NEW MUSTANG REACHES THE TOP

In another classic Mustang move, it is photographed on top of the Empire State Building. Two American icons pictured together.

The 50th anniversary of the Ford Mustang is upon us, and the Blue Oval celebrated in style not too far from the floor of the New York Auto Show -- though about 1,000 feet higher up in the air.

In fulfillment of prophecy (or at least a Ford press release warning us that this was going to happen), a 2015 Ford Mustang Convertible was been positioned on the 86th floor observation deck of the Empire State Building. .

Of course, what makes this even more notable is that this isn't the first time a Mustang magically materialized on the Empire State Building's observation deck: Ford pulled the feat off once before, in October 1965, when a drop-top Mustang was posed atop the structure for a helicopter glamor shoot.

Some things have changed in the intervening half-century. "The car is bigger, longer and wider than what it was in 1965," explained Mustang program manager Prakash Patel. But other things haven't. "The Empire State Building," he notes, "is exactly how it was 50 years ago."

Ford Reveals All-New Focus Sedan

Retains World's Best-Selling Nameplate Title for 2013

Ford Focus retains its title as world's best-selling vehicle nameplate for 2013, according to Ford analysis of the just-released full-year Polk new vehicle registration data from IHS Automotive. The news comes as a new Focus four-door sedan prepares to make its debut at next week's 2014 New York International Auto Show.

Registrations of the compact Focus were up 8.1 percent with 1,097,618 cars sold worldwide last year. That compares with global Focus sales of 1,014,965 in 2012.

The debut of the new Focus four-door sedan and the Focus Electric in New York follows the Geneva Motor Show debut in March of the Focus three- and five-door hatchback and wagon. A new version of the performance Focus ST will be shown later this year.

The redesigned Ford Focus offers a bolder exterior design, a more intuitive and upscale interior, a host of technologies uncommon for a compact car and the additional powertrain option of Ford's award-winning 1.0-liter EcoBoost® engine with a new six-speed manual transmission in the U.S.-spec Focus. While U.S. EPA fuel economy ratings are not yet available, Ford expects the 1.0-liter EcoBoost Focus to raise the bar in fuel efficiency among non-hybrid compact vehicles.

"It is remarkable to see Focus again lead the industry as the No. 1-selling vehicle nameplate on the planet," said Jim Farley, Ford executive vice president, Ford Motor Company Global Marketing, Sales and Service and Lincoln. "With the new car, we've raised the bar again, showcasing Ford's commitment to continuous improvement – adding better technology for drivers and a sleeker, more modern exterior across the entire Focus family."

Should I Get A Vehicle History Report?

If you are in the market for a used car, you should get a Vehicle History Report. Do not buy a used car without this tool to make an educated decision and save yourself from making a huge mistake! You have been warned!

Why You Need a Vehicle History Report?

1. It gives you a window into the car's past.
2. According to the US Government roughly a half million cars are sold with fraudulent odometer readings annually, costing used car buyers over a billion dollars. Our research indicates many more go unreported!
3. The Office of Odometer Fraud Investigations has reported a sharp increase in odometer fraud. Elevated used car prices coupled with a tight supply of low-mileage used cars, has made odometer fraud more profitable than ever.
4. Natural disasters such as Super Storm Sandy damaged over a quarter million cars! Many of these cars get cleaned up, rebuilt and put back on the market.

What is In a Vehicle History Report?

Vehicle records including data from state DMV's, auto auctions, manufacturers, car dealers, police reported accidents and repair shops. A history report may reveal more about that used car than the seller is willing to tell you. A vehicle history report can reveal:

1. Number of previous owners, when it was sold & what states it was sold in.
2. Accident data, including total loss, flooded, rebuilt wreck, salvage titles & airbag deployment
3. Potential odometer rollback fraud
4. Year, make, model, engine, location of manufacture and installed equipment
5. Check if the car has been turned in under the "Lemon Law"
6. Exclusive valuable auto auction data
7. Indication if vehicle has been certified used, leased, car rental, fleet or government vehicle

STAN OWENS WINS MOTOR HEAD GRILL FROM NATCHEZ FORD

SHARES HIS STORY ON FACEBOOK!

My sister sent me a text and asked if I would do her a favor. Seems she won a grill at the Relay for Life last Friday and asked me if I would pick it up for her. She said it was different and looked like a motor or something. When I get there, we load it up and I see this smiling face with a camera. "I didn't win it, my sister did, I'm just the picker upper." Nice lady grins and said "We can email her the picture." After I get it and send a text with wording similar to "hijacking" and "headed to the camp" she asked me if I liked it. Told her yes and she said it's yours "Happy Retirement". LOL Hell you can forget the birthday gift too. Thanks Sis!!!!

And THANKS Natchez Ford!!!

Keys Are Always A Problem At Car Dealerships

OH...There In The Trade

' (A customer drops his car off to do a trade-in, and will be meeting me later to finalize the paperwork. I go to his car to check the mileage, and find that it's locked. I go back inside to get the keys.)

Me: "The guy's car is locked. Did he happen to leave his keys with any of you?"

Coworker: "No, why don't you try calling him?"

(I call the customer.)

Customer: "Hello?"

Me: "Hi, sir, we have your car here. I was trying to get in and it's locked. Where did you put your keys?"

Customer: optimistically "Oh! They're in the car."

Had The Key All Along

(From a receptionist at a car dealership answering the phones.)

Caller: "I need to have my car towed to your dealership. Do you have a service for that, or one that you can recommend?"

Me: "We do, but it's expensive. Can you tell me more about the problem so we can try and help you before resorting to that?"

Caller: "Oh, sure! Well, I think my key remote is dead, so I can't unlock my car. Because I can't unlock it, I can't get anywhere! This is my only car, and I rely on it. I need to get it unlocked as soon as possible."

Me: "Ma'am, have you tried putting the key into the keyhole on the dr

Caller: "What? Cars still have that? I don't think mine does, but I'll go check."

(About a minute passes...)

Caller: "Oh, my God! You're my hero! It totally worked! Thank you so much!"

SERVICE TIPS OF THE DAY

KEEP AN AUTO LOG

Keep a pad and pencil in the glove compartment and use them to record your gas fill-ups and mileage. If you notice that your gas mileage worsens, mention it to your service man. It may be an early warning sign that something is wrong with your car.

PRESERVE WINDOW AND DOOR SEALS

Wipe a rubber protectant (such as Armor-All) or silicone on door and window weatherstripping to keep it in good condition. Don't use an oilbased product, such as WD-40, because the oil will damage the rubber. Regular cleaning and treatment of your car's weatherstripping will also lessen the likelihood of your door sticking to its rubber seal in cold weather, a common cause of damage to the rubber.

RECIPE OF THE MONTH

ZUCCHINI BOATS WITH SAUSAGE STUFFING & GARDEN FRESH SALSA

What you need:

- Six zucchini
- 12 ounces (4 links) of chicken sausage
- 15-ounce can of tomato sauce
- two cloves of garlic
- 1/4 cup of red onion, chopped
- salt and pepper
- Garden Fresh Gourmet Salsa (we used Medium Thick & Chunky)
- Shredded mozzarella cheese
- Cilantro (optional)

Directions:

Preheat oven to 400. Place tomato sauce in a roasting pan. Cut the zucchini longways. Scoop out the flesh, chop and set aside. Drop the zucchini "boats" in boiling water for two minutes and then place in the roasting pan.

Brown sausage in a skillet. Add garlic, red onion and salt and pepper. Throw in the chopped zucchini and cook until translucent. Fill the boats with the stuffing. Top each zucchini with two tablespoons of salsa and shredded cheese. Cover with foil and bake for 30 minutes. Remove foil. Add more cheese if desired and cook for two more minutes or until tops are lightly browned.

Serve and enjoy. Makes 12 mouth-watering zucchini boats.
